Grounds Report

We continue to take advantage of spurts of really nice weather to do some things that we don't normally get to do until mid to late April. The guys are finishing up the equipment maintenance, and have been able to take advantage of the recently purchased hydraulic lift for the smaller equipment, mowers, gators, ATV's etc. It has made servicing and repairs much easier, and definitely safer.

Mt. Nebo Well #1

As I reported last month, we have pumped water out of the Mt. Nebo 1 well. However, we were experiencing some difficulties with the transducer instrument, and also some definite issues of gas being produced with the water, which affects how the pump operates and shuts off. Mark, and geologist Ben Jordan are investigating the instrument issues with the manufacturer, but the gas problem is a separate issue that will most likely require remedy. Options include a gas vent installed down hole, or possible air development of the well to clean up and reduce this problem. With the well being a temporary solution, there comes a point where the cost-benefit isn't worth it.

Rural Control Buildings

The control buildings have been demolished and the foundations are being prepared. Helical piers are going in this week.
